Background of the Seminar

The fishery is a sunrise sector poised to play a major role in Indian economy in near future. The sector provides livelihood to over 25 million fishers and fish farmers at the primary level. Considering the importance of fisheries sector at global level, the United Nations General Assembly has declared year 2022 as the International Year of Artisanal Fisheries and Aquaculture (IYFA 2022). The impressive growth in aquaculture production, due to adoption of varied appropriate production technologies, registered during last three decades has been instrumental in achieving an annual growth rate of around 10%. The rapid growth in aquaculture during recent years has raised questions concerning its environmental sustainability and also the sector is facing challenges due to climate change, pollution, loss of biodiversity, over fishing, unmanaged aquaculture expansion, policy and governance issues, etc. The development of proper practice regime for fisheries and aquaculture production will play a major role in developing sustainable fish production systems in the country. In this context, this Seminar will deliberate on the contemporary issues occurring in fisheries and aquaculture and formulate proper recommendations for attaining sustainable fish production in the country.

About the Venue

Govind Ballabh Pant University of Agriculture & Technology, Pantnagar, the first Agriculture University of the country, was dedicated to the nation on November 17, 1960 by the first Prime Minister of India, Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru. The University is fully residential and has eight faculties. It offers 14 Undergraduate, 66 Master's and 53 Ph.D. programmes. Huge farm area and research centres are its most prominent features. The College of Fisheries was established in the year 1985 and at present has five departments namely, Aquaculture, Fisheries Resource Management, Aquatic Environment Management, Fish Harvest & Processing Technology and Fisheries Extension Education, fully functional Instructional Fish Farm, Feed Mill, RAS and large commercial Carp Seed Hatchery. Pantnagar is about 250 km from Delhi, 360 km from Lucknow, 95 km from Moradabad, 75 km from Bareilly and 65 km from Nainital by road. It is connected to rest of the country by Delhi-Rampur-Nainital and Bareilly-Nainital highway. Pantnagar railway station, on the Lucknow-Bareilly-Lalkuan section of N.E. Railway, is about 01 km and Lalkuan is 06 km from Fisheries College. Haldi Road railway station, on Delhi-Rampur-Kathgodam section of N & NE railway is about 6 km from the College (3 km from Guest House). University has Pantnagar Airport from where one flight of Air Alliance plies to Dehradun-Delhi.

The Society of Life Sciences, Satna (M.P.)

The Society of Life Sciences is a registered scientific body working to promise scientific research and excellence in all areas of Life science. The Society, established in 2004 at Satna (M.P.), is open to everyone who has interest in the field of Life Sciences. The Society works in collaboration with various Institutions /Universities/Colleges and regularly publishes two peer reviewed biannual journals i.e. National Journal of Life Sciences and Life Science Bulletin which are abstracted and indexed by many agencies. The society awards citation, medals and encouragement awards to research students and junior scientists for their best presentation (oral and poster). The Society gives fellowship (FSLSc) to its selected life members every year after the evaluation of their contribution. The Society also confers Senior Scientist Awards (Prof. G.B. Shinde Medal and Prof. Baba Jadhav Medal), SLS Recognition Award, SLS Best Scientist Award and Life Time Achievement Award (for senior/retired academicians) to distinguished scientists/academicians who are actively engaged in the service of Life Science.
