7. INDUSTRIAL ATTACHMENT

For ensuring exposure to working of a business organization to future managers, industrial attachment during summer is an essential academic requirement for the first year students. Each student has to spend summer break working in and learning from a business organization. The summer attachment provides the student first hand exposure to the functioning of the organization.

8. METHODS OF INSTRUCTION

The MBA Programme aims to provide not only the conceptual knowledge but also realistic situations for decision-making through emphasis on realistic learning and active participation in the academic process. The major instrument of learning, therefore, is the case method. Cases are descriptions of actual management problem situations derived from the experiences of business organizations. While discussing cases, students are placed in a position where, as managers, they must evaluate and act with responsibility. Other methods of instruction are seminars, group discussions, lectures, role-play etc. Audio-visual aids and computers are extensively used by faculty and students in most of the courses.

9. PERFORMANCE EVALUATION SYSTEM

The continuous performance evaluation system of the students, as an indicator of input utilization and conversion efficiency comprises class participation, case presentation, group discussion, seminars, assignments, quizzes, and midterm examination, practical and final examination. The marks distribution is as follows:

- | | | |
|----|--|----|
| 1. | PGCAP (Participation in class discussion, Group discussion, Case presentation, Assignment, Punctuality) & written exams (Mid-term exam and practical/Lab exam) | 60 |
| 2. | Semester Final Examination | 40 |

10. INDUCTION PROGRAMME

There is a unique Induction Programme for the new entrants. For the purpose, the students are called few days before the due date of registration in the University in the first semester of first year. During this period they are apprised of the responsibilities, activities, goals and achievements of the institution. Subsequently they visit various academic units and interact with various faculty members posted there regarding educational excellence, research achievements, and scopes and business orientations therein. At the end of the Programme the students participate in discussion with the faculty to share their opinions and learnings regarding various aspects of different units.
